Project Description

Rick Salisbury has always had a strong passion for vintage motorcycles. He wanted to share this passion with other serious riders, hence, Legends Motorcycles was born. The crew at Legends is known for their ability to handcraft parts in a way that can give any new motorcycle a vintage look. "Sky's the limit" is their motto and there is no motorcycle part the team cannot construct. Located in the heart of Springville, the builders at Salisbury Homes wanted the new bike shop to reflect their unique style and mission.

Unique Requirements/Solutions

The objective of this project was to build an industrial yet vintage-style bike shop that would show off their unique, eye-catching pieces of art. The builders chose Pinnacle clad radius direct sets with 7/8" putty bars to give the outside of the building some distinct street flair. Right inside you will find the first floor, which serves entirely as an art gallery showcasing their high-end bike collection, along with an old-time barber shop. They are also currently in the works of building a restaurant within the shop.

Comments From The Builder

“The Pinnacle direct set window with radius profile provided the contemporary, industrial look we were going for and complemented the style of the building extraordinary well. We are very pleased with the windows and how everything turned out.”
