Windsor Windows & Doors Joins WDMA

WEST DES MOINES, IA – The Window and Door Manufacturers Association (WDMA) announced today that Windsor Windows & Doors is the newest member of the association.

The Window & Door Manufacturers Association defines the standards of excellence in the residential and commercial window, door, and skylight industry and advances these standards among industry members while providing advocacy resources, educational and professional programs, and ways for members to provide greater value to their customers.

Windsor Windows & Doors' corporate headquarters are located in West Des Moines, Iowa, which features a 340,000 sq. ft. manufacturing plant. Windsor operates a second 200,000 sq. ft. production facility in Monroe, North Carolina. Windsor began as a small wood window manufacturer in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1946 and they remained a regional manufacturer until being purchased by Woodgrain Millwork, Inc of Fruitland, Idaho in 1987. Woodgrain is the largest manufacturer of mouldings and interior doors in the United States. Woodgrain Millwork currently employs over 3,000 people in 20 different locations, including two in Chile. Since joining Woodgrain, Windsor has streamlined its manufacturing processes, invested in state-of-the-art equipment, engineered innovative new designs, and expanded the product offering. They now manufacture four distinct product lines: Pinnacle (wood windows & patio doors), Next Dimension (vinyl windows & patio doors), Legend (cellular PVC windows), and Ashworth (patio and entry doors). This spring they will introduce their Revive line of pocket windows designed specifically for remodeling applications.

“WDMA is a highly respected organization and we are very proud to join their association” states Bill Tindell, Windsor’s director of Marketing and Product Development. “The WDMA seal will exemplify Windsor’s dedication to quality materials, superior craftsmanship and attention to detail.”
