Project Description

Imber Place is a spectacular, private gated community of nine single-family homes. Inspired by stylish Charleston Architecture, the development is located in the prestigious Tanglewood neighborhood of Houston, Texas. The development was designed by Preston Wood Associates, a well-respected architectural firm in Houston, and the construction was executed by Charter Custom Homes.

Unique Requirements/Solutions

Charter Custom Homes is an established builder in this market and longtime customers of Windsor. Steve Streller, the owner of Charter Custom Homes, is an avid proponent of the Windsor brand. Steve says they've elected to use Windsor for many of their high-end residential projects because our products have the perfect appearance, design and price for these projects.

Comments from Project Associates

Steve stated, "Windsor was a great partner on this project. The quality of these products and Windsor's customer service exceeded our expectations!"
