Project Description

This sprawling mansion resides in the exquisite setting that backs to a private lake in rural Oklahoma. The unique, old-world charm of this home gives the impression that it has been there for centuries, but step inside and this home boasts every modern convenience imaginable. With nearly 12,000 square feet of living space, the Doornbos home is designed to suit family living as well as provide extravagant areas for indoor and outdoor entertaining.

Unique Requirements/Solutions

The rear elevation features many large patio doors and windows providing great views of the gorgeous decks, backyard and lake. The doors also provide access to multiple outdoor cooking areas.

Comments From People Involved

Ron Hill, owner of Euro World Design, has been spec'ing Windsor's wood windows for over a dozen years. He says that Windsor always provides great value and excellent products for his customers who require superior performance and outstanding after-the-sales service and support. When homeowner and builder Scott Doornbos asked Ron Hill for his recommendations on a window to use for his new home, Ron referred Scott to another long-term Windsor user, Doug Pitts. Doug echoed the sentiments of Ron and confirmed that he uses Windsor because of their excellent value and reliable performance and support.

Scott's own experience with windows over the years had been with another major window company. When he learned more about Windsor's Pinnacle products, he found that Windsor provided him just as many options at a much more competitive price and a product he would be happy to use in his new home. Scott said the robust design and sturdy construction of Windsor's Pinnacle patio doors and also the wide selection of standard clad colors worked perfectly to complement the beautiful stonework throughout the home's exterior. The natural alder interiors also provided a beautiful complement to the rest of his interior décor.
