Project Description

Ray Davis, president and owner of Spectrum Finish Contractors, began working with his client in 2007 to plan their dream home. This client had a clear picture of the type of living space they needed and a distinct idea of the style of interior finishes they preferred.

The floorplan was custom designed by Ahmann Designs to specifically meet the family's needs and expectations. Davis worked closely with the family for several months to refine the layout. After evaluating many different window and door products, they selected Pinnacle white clad casement windows and patio doors. The interior of the home features white painted woodwork to coordinate with the intricately carved painted cabinets and interior paneled doors. Brass hardware completes the elegant appearance.

Unique Requirements/Solutions

The homeowners were very particular about the quality of the products installed in their high-end home, but were also looking for a good value. Windsor's Pinnacle clad windows provided the solid wood construction and easy-to-maintain clad exterior that fit their budget.

Comments from Project Associates

Ray Davis, with Spectrum Finish Contractors, has used Windsor products in the past and says he's impressed by their robust construction and variety of options. Davis said when he compared Windsor to the competition, their durability and attention to detail confirmed his decision.

Davis has extensive previous experiences with Windsor Windows & Doors and is particularly impressed with the service he continues to receive from his locally-based window manufacturer. He stated that Windsor's installation follow-up was the best in the business!
